Gitanjali

Thou hast made me restless, such is thy presence. Thou hast moved the smallest again and again, and filled it even with greater life.
Thou little flock of a nest thou hast carried over hills and valleys and hast landed through it midst a steadily rose, at the innermost heart of thy heart my little heart lives in thine in a great joy and gives birth to utterance. Ineffable thy inspirations come to me only in these, small hands of mine. Thy grace and still the present and still there is more to fill.

Rabindranath Tagore original manuscript 1912
